AMUSEMENT NOTES.
From the Cheshire Republican.—"Those attending the entertainments at the Park theatre this week will vouch for the statement that Manager Quinn secured a creditable attraction in May Hillman and her associate players. While the weather has not been altogether propitious for open air theatricals the attendance each evening has been the largest in the history of the theatre. The company is under the management of Mr. George Rosener, who, although a young man, has attained success as an actor, manager and writer."

As a clever and versatile actress, Miss Hillman has a wide and enviable reputation, being considered second to none among the leading ladies playing in the theatre. She is supported by a capable company, including W. A. Tremayne, Gerald Rowan, J. N. Burling, Cyril Bidolph, Gus Gilmore, Geo. Moore, Miss B. Genevieve Baird and Miss Ann Chard. The company carries special scenery and elegant costumes, the latter being worthy of special mention.

One of the features of the engagement is the Hillman scope. The machine is in charge of E. L. Stearns, an expert operator electrician.

Miss Hillman and company comes to Barre next week enroute direct from a 14 week run in Montreal, Canada.

GOES TO SUPREME COURT.
Contentants Filed Exceptions in The Estabrook Will Case.

Brattleboro, July 30.—Exceptions were filed by the contentants in the hotly contested Estabrook will case carrying the case before the supreme court, the exceptions being on the rulings of the lower court on the admission of evidence. This case was decided in favor of the proponents by the Windham county court on May 24. The verdict rendered by the court in May favored the proponents thereby sustaining the second will of the testator, Mrs. Nancy A. Estabrook.

The first will provided for several slight bequests and named Rollin S. Childs, a beneficiary of the main part of the estate.

The second will gave Don Miller of Brattleboro $5,000, William Miller of Greenfield, Mass., $3,500 and Annie Goddard Walker of Westminster, Mass., $500. After numerous small bequests the residue was willed to a niece, Miss Bart, of Brattleboro. The proponents were Don Miller, William Miller and A. Smith of Brattleboro, the contentants were Rollin S. Childs and Georgiana Sears of Brattleboro, Mrs. Annie Brown of Marlboro, Annie Wilder of Westminster and several others.

FUGITIVE CAPTURED.
Ernest Kendall, Escaped From House of Correction, Back Again.

Rutland, July 30.—Ernest Kendall, a "trust" prisoner at the house of correction, who escaped Wednesday morning while outside of the institution performing his duty as team driver, was captured yesterday in Chittenden about 10 miles east of this city. He was brought back to the institution by Deputy Sheriff John F. Smith and Superintendent D. L. Morgan who left for Chittenden early in the afternoon in the latter's automobile.

The capture of the prisoner was made by M. R. Brown, superintendent of the Rutland Marble company, which is run in connection with the house of correction, and G. A. Bucklin, while they were on their way to Chittenden pond for a fishing trip. Mr. Brown saw the fugitive and recognized him and they took him in custody.

FANNED!
When the sun boils down and the heat sinks in, we all want to be fanned. There is only one way—the electric way.

Electric fans cost only $9.00 and take about as much current as one 8 candle power lamp. Therefore it is not expensive to be "fanned" occasionally.

And it is only one of the comforts at the call of the man who uses electric light.
